

Money Matters!

A Financial Services Program to Enhance Overall Wellness

Financial wellness involves having enough money to meet practical needs as well as a sense of control over and knowledge about personal finances. People who live in poverty experience many daily challenges and barriers to fulfilling their dreams and goals. At CSPNJ and CEC, we are working together with the people we serve to directly address their financial challenges. Through asset development, money management, and financial education, our financial services are helping people achieve financial wellness.

Tuesday, December 15, 2015, from 1:00 – 4:00

Rutgers University School for Health-Related Professions
1776 Raritan Road, Scotch Plains, NJ

Please join us for this presentation on and celebration of our financial services program. You will hear about our recent initiative to formalize the program, with information on:

- The value of a recovery-oriented financial services program
- The components of the CSPNJ Financial Services Program Model
- How this program has benefited people in recovery
- An inspirational peer-supported economic self-sufficiency model

Presenters will include CSPNJ/CEC leadership, a panel of individuals who have benefited from the CSPNJ financial services and our Financial Services team:

Lisa Eachus Barbara Gorrell, Victor Luna, Cristina Peralta, Zoraida Reyes, and our special guest:

Oscar Jimenez-Solomon, MPH, Research Scientist and Research Coordinator at the New York State Psychiatric Institute Center of Excellence for Cultural Competence. He is studying the financial capability and wellness of people engaged in peer-operated employment services, with the goal of increasing economic empowerment.

Sponsored by Collaborative Support Programs of New Jersey and Community Enterprises Corporation (www.cspnj.org)

Who should attend? This presentation is designed for anyone interested in innovative recovery-oriented services, especially behavioral health program leadership and service providers, funding organizations, and individuals working to enhance financial wellness.

If you are interested in attending please RSVP by December 4, 2015.

Registration Form- Email to pswarbrick@cspnj.org

Name: _____

Agency/Affiliation: _____

Email: _____